Amendments to the Claims

Please amend the claims as follows wherein bracketing "[]" indicates deletions to be made, and underlining indicates insertions to be made to the claim(s). Some of the claims are being amended for the first time and are marked (once amended) while others are being amended for the second time and are marked (twice amended), having been first amended in the pre-examination amendment of paper # 3. Please reexamine the application and claims as amended in view of the herein remarks favoring allowance. Thank you.

1. (twice amended) An improved controller of the type held in two hands simultaneously for controlling electronic imagery, said controller including a housing, a plurality of depressible surfaces at least in-part exposed on said housing with the depressible surfaces acting on electricity manipulating devices contained within said housing and controlled by depression of said depressible surfaces for manipulating electrical outputs at least useful for controlling electronic imagery; wherein the [improvement comprises] improvements comprise;

at least one of said electricity manipulating devices is a [sensor having] pressure-sensitive variable-conductance sensor [material] for creating an analog electrical output proportional to varying physical pressure applied to at least one depressible surface of the plurality of depressible surfaces;

means for outputting a signal to an image generation machine, said [a] signal at least representational of said analog
